INQUEST IS HELD OVER MAN'S DEATH

LINE CITY STIRRED BY DEATH OF HAYES THIS MORNING.

WAS SHOT BY A POLICEMAN

Dead Man Requested Arrest—May Have Died From the Operation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

John Hayes, who was shot twice last night about six o'clock by Patrolman Juvenal while resisting arrest, died this morning. An inquest was immediately ordered at which District Attorney Fisher and Sheriff Schellert were present but it is not thought that Juvenal will be arraigned as witnesses, it is claimed, will testify that the shooting was justifiable.

Hayes, who was fifty-five years old and somewhat of a worthless character, became involved in an altercation with Juvenal near the interurban station last night. The patrolman had ordered him to move on when he attempted to converse with a woman and had followed him south to the crossing of the interurban line and the St. Paul railway tracks. Here, Hayes wrestled the case from Juvenal's hands, and the policeman, drawing his revolver, shot twice, the first bullet taking effect in Hayes' right thigh while the second one smashed the bones of his foot.

The struggle took place before the eyes of a great crowd of spectators and shouts of "Lynch him, Lynch him," became general. Those who were the loudest in the demonstration, however, were unacquainted with the facts of the case and attempted no violence.

Hayes is well known to the police and has the reputation of being a heavy drinker and being addicted to the habit of following women on the street and attempting to kiss them. He was not what could be called a desperate character, however. Juvenal has been unfortunate of late as he was badly beaten during an attempt to disperse a rowdy crowd in a dance hall fight.

HURT WHILE RIDING "BLIND BAGGAGE CAR"

George Vaye of Oconto Will Lose a Leg As Result of Accident While Stealing a Ride.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Marquette, Wis., March 31.—George Vaye, a young man residing in Oconto, while riding blind baggage between that city and Marquette, Wednesday night, slipped from the car and fell under the wheels. His left leg was crushed and he was dragged some distance. It is thought he will recover.

JURY DISAGREES IN TRIAL OF PHYSICIAN

Aged Doctor Will Be Tried Again on Charge of Causing Death of Girl
by Criminal Operation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

East Chicago, Wis., March 31.—After being out since noon, Wednesday, the jury in the case of the state versus Dr. Elias Cole, the 77-year-old physician of Fairchild who is charged with causing the death of Maud Bennett by a criminal operation, came in at noon today and on reporting a disagreement, it was discharged. The case will be tried again in September.

FUNERAL SERVICES WERE VERY SIMPLE

Last Rites for Late Justice Brewer
Were Simple But Impressive—
President Taft An Honorary Pall-Bearer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Funeral services, simple and unostentatious, were held today for the late Justice Brewer, and an hour later the body was on its way for burial at Leavenworth, Kansas. The president of the United States, members of the supreme court, except Moody, who is ill, and representatives from the house and senate acted as honorary pall-bearers. Only members of the household and a few intimate friends were present.

UNITED STATES IS READY TO ENFORCE MONROE DOCTRINE

Sends Warship to Liberia in Consequence of the Disorganized
State That South American Republic is In.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—The situation in Liberia is causing apprehension here. The attack by native tribes upon the English faction and Liberian troops endangers the existence of the republic.

In addition there is a state of practical anarchy at Monrovia, the capital, and the finances of the country are in a desperate plight. These might easily serve as a pretext for intervention by some European power.

Such intervention usually leads to a permanent domination and the state department is resolved this shall not be. The cruiser "Birmingham" is on its way to protect American interests.

COAL MINERS GO OUT ON A STRIKE FOR MORE WAGES

Two Hundred Thousand Organized
Miners Seek to Better Conditions.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—The two hundred thousand organized miners in the bituminous coal fields of the United States will strike at midnight tonight and stay away from the mines until the operators consent to pay an advance of wages of five cents per ton, according to the announcement issued today from the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America, in this city.

President Lewis said this morning that he had no information that the miners and operators of any district would get together today, though it is possible there will be a conference in the Indiana hocking districts before night.

Members of the executive board leave tonight for their respective districts to represent national administration in the direction of the local strikes. President Lewis will go to the Illinois field tomorrow and does not expect to return to his office here until Thursday night.

In Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—The Illinois miners will quit this afternoon, but President McDonald does not think the suspension will last long as he believes the conference with the operators next week will end in a settlement. The increased wages asked for totals $11,000,000.

LA CROSSE COUNTY BOARD VICTORIOUS

Succeeds in Quelling Poormaster
Hauser From Office After A Hard Fight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

La Crosse, Wis., March 31.—Following the decision by Judge Higgins of the injunction issued yesterday by Court Commissioner Daniels restraining the county board from interfering with Poor Commissioner Hauser in the performance of his duties, the board today formally removed Hauser from office by a vote of 33 to 2. P. L. Lundek was thereupon elected poor commissioner.

HOOSIER TEACHERS AT INDIANAPOLIS

Thirty-Fourth Annual Meeting Of
The Southern Association Will Formally Opened Tonight

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—From every direction in Indiana, on every train and on interurban cars, thousands of teachers arrived in Indianapolis today to attend the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Southern Indiana Teachers' association, one of the largest sectional organizations of the kind in the country.

The meeting has its formal opening tonight, and the regular sessions will be continued over Friday and Saturday. Present indications are that no previous attendance records will be broken, and that the convention will be the greatest in the history of the association.

The chief speakers to be heard at the general sessions include Prof. Willis L. Moore, of Washington, D. C., President of the National Geographic Society; Francis J. McConnell, president of the Law University; Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia; Dr. G. D. Strayer of Columbia University, New York; and Dean W. T. Harris, of the College of Teachers of Cincinnati.

GEORGIA DRUMMERS HOLD A CONVENTION

Members Of Travelers' Protective Association Assemble At Sav-

Up.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Savannah, Ga., March 31.—The freedom of the city has been turned over to the members of the Travelers' Protective Association, whose annual state convention is in session here. President J. P. Felsch called the gathering to order this morning and Mayor Tiedeman welcomed the visitors. When these formalities were concluded the regular business of the convention was taken up. Business and entertainment will occupy the time of the delegates during the remainder of the week.

NEWJERSEY'S CLUB'S NO-TREATING RULE

East Orange Organization Imagines It Is Establishing a Precedent For Country At Large.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

East Orange, N. J., March 31.—Declining to establish a precedent to be followed by social organizations throughout the country, the City Club of East Orange will formally begin its exclusion tomorrow by enforcing a rule prohibiting members from treating each other. Once a year, on "club night," the rule will be suspended. The club, which formerly was the Orange Club, has an attractive home in Prospect street and its membership is composed of men prominent in society.

Wausau, Wis., March 31.—Rain from the south last night and work of nearly five hundred men prevented the destruction of Schofield by a forest fire, and today the fire is almost extinguished.

FLAMES DESTROYED ALGOMA BUILDINGS

Disastrous Fire In West Algoma
Yesterday Afternoon Caused Much Damage.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oshkosh, Wis., March 31.—Fire which started yesterday afternoon in West Algoma caused damage to a house which amounted to about $5,000 to George Koch on Lake street, and a barn adjoining was totally destroyed. Two other houses were gutted, one of them being owned by John Fisher and a large amount of stock housed at the Palm Lumber company was also destroyed.

MANY TOURISTS ARE AWAITING ROOSEVELT

English And American Travelers And Newspaper Correspondents Pouring Into Naples.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Naples, March 31.—Many continental tourists, among them numerous English and American travelers, are gathering in Naples in anticipation of the arrival of the steamship Prinz Heinrich with former President Roosevelt and his party aboard. The multi army of newspaper correspondents, of which the several score who made the journey to upper Egypt some months ago, are gathered here to meet the former President of the United States at the commencement of his European tour.

Whether or not the European press is inclined to regard Colonel Roosevelt's visits to the various capitals and his meetings with the several rulers as of importance from the viewpoint of international politics, it is certain that virtually every continental newspaper of high standing has made arrangements to "cover" the tour and follow the details of the Roosevelt travels.

The forthcoming visits to Rome, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, London and other capital cities promise to attract much attention and comment from the newspapers as do the exchange of visits by European rulers.

CENTENARY OF THIS ADMIRAL OVERLOOKED

Today Is 100th Anniversary Of Birth
Of James Alden Who Fought
Under Farragut.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Among naval officers and students of naval affairs and history there were probably few to recall the fact that today marked the centenary of the birth of Rear Admiral James Alden, who achieved high distinction during his service of over 45 years in the United States navy. Born in Portland, Me., March 31, 1810, Admiral Alden entered the navy as a midshipman in 1828. Ten years later he was a member of the Wilkes expedition which made a tour of the world. He took part in the naval operations of the war with Mexico and was one of the Farragut's most trusted officers at Vicksburg and Mobile. In his long service after the civil war Admiral Alden served as commander of the Maine Island navy yard, as chief of the Bureau of Navigation and as commander of the European squadron. His death occurred in San Francisco, Feb. 6, 1877.

ADMITTED GRAFTERS SEEK CITY OFFICES

Former Boss of Green Bay Council
And His Aide, Convicted of Taking Bribes, Want to Be Aldermen.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Green Bay, Wis., March 31.—Albert L. Gray, former boss of the city council, who pleaded guilty to accepting bribes in connection with city contract work several years ago, and Henry Porth, one of Gray's gang who also was convicted of grafting, are candidates for the office of alderman at the spring election on Tuesday, April 5. Both of these admitted grafters were able to have their citizenship rights restored only after considerable effort by their friends who prevailed upon Governor Davidson to restore them to citizenship about a year ago. Now Gray is a candidate for a seat in the council from the Seventh ward and Porth from the Third ward.

Thus far there has been practically no light against Porth, but representative merchants in the Seventh ward have put up a candidate who is expected to beat Gray. This man is John L. Wiley, who has been active in public affairs for a number of years. He was put up to keep Gray out of the council after two other candidates had been prevailed upon to withdraw from the field. The present representative, Theodore Leitch, is one of the candidates who agreed to pull out of the race to concentrate the attack upon Boss Gray, and H. F. Comm is the other candidate. Support is being given Mr. Wiley by voters in other wards and there is much sentiment against Gray and Porth.

FOES OF SALOON ACTIVE IN SOUTH

Southern League Conference Opened
In Atlanta Today With Many States Represented.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlanta, Ga., March 31.—The Southern Anti-Saloon league conference, for which preparations have been making for several months, opened its sessions in Atlanta today and will continue its proceedings until Monday. The announced purposes of the convention are to arouse renewed enthusiasm in the battle against liquor traffic, to discuss ways and means for securing a stricter enforcement of the laws in prohibition territory and to consider plans for pushing the fight before Congress for national prohibition legislation. All of the states of the South are represented at the conference. Prominent among those scheduled to speak at the several sessions are Governor Haskell of Oklahoma, Congressman Hersh of Wisconsin, Bishop H. C. Morrison of Florida, Rev. J. B. Gamble of Texas and Rev. N. A. Palmer, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league in Kentucky.

STRIKE IN WALES MAY BE AVERTED

There Is Still Hope That Struggle
Which Would Involve 200,000
Coal Miners Can Be Avoided.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, March 31.—Although tomorrow is the day set for the inauguration of the great strike of coal miners in South Wales there is still hope that the threatened struggle may be averted or at least delayed for some time to come. The Miners' Federation of Great Britain has taken the matter up with the mine owners with a view to extending the existing agreement indefinitely while negotiations are continued for a new agreement. Should the negotiations be broken off and a general strike declared it would mean that 200,000 miners would be thrown out of employment, with the prospect that the strike would eventually affect five times that number, including railway and dock employees, and others dependent upon the collieries.

CENTRAL KANSAS TEACHERS MEETING AT HUTCHINSON.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Hutchinson, Kas., March 31.—Hutchinson extended a cordial welcome today to the scores of visitors here for the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Central Kansas Teachers' association. The convention will be in session two days and the indications are that it will be the best attended in the history of the association. The names of many leading educators are found on the programme, among them being Dr. A. E. Winslow of Boston, Professor Price of the University of Kansas, Montville Flowers of Cincinnati, and Dr. George H. Bradford, President of Epworth University at Oklahoma City.

Jailed for Drunkenness: James Riley pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness in municipal court this morning and was sentenced to pay a fine and costs of $1 or go to jail for five days. He took the latter alternative. John Kendrick was unable to pay $5 and costs and went to the bailee for eight days.

WOLTER WAS INDICTED

Circumstantial Evidence Presented to the Jury By the Police—Held Man.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Mar. 31.—Quite as mystifying as Edgar Allan Poe's vivid flight of imagination in the "Murders of Rue Morgue" are the circumstances surrounding the death of 15-year-old Ruth Wheeler. The man held in the Tombs, accused of her murder, is Albert Wolter, a sickly, apparently harmless youth scarcely past his majority. As a principal witness in the case Katherine Mueller is being held at the house of detention. At the time of an apparently peaceful disposition, Wolter as his wife, though it has since been ascertained that this marriage was sanctioned neither by the state nor by the church.

Fifteen-year-old Ruth Wheeler, in her girlish innocence, and ambitious for employment, after completing her business school course was sent by Principal Eddy of the Business School to the apartments of Albert Wolter, who had said he was looking for a stenographer. The last seen of Miss Wheeler alive was at 9 o'clock in the morning when the landlady of Wol-experience draws near. A noticeable fact, however, is that while the Advocates are said to feel that the end is quite certain to come at the time appointed, they are not withholding the sowing of crops. In fact, the early sowing this year is being taken advantage of by them to the fullest extent and DeKalb county is experiencing the novel sensation of seeding in March.

Shows Public Spirit. Which some years ago donated the city its most park and which has contributed to various public and semi-public causes, has just set the ball rolling toward getting a road from Superior to the new steel plant site up the St. Louis river. The present outlook is that unless Superior hustles DuBois will be first to get a good road to the plant and will thereby get an undue holding on the benefits to accrue from the plant project. The bill for the road is $2,000. The road will be mostly outside the city of Superior and the town in which it lies will be made to build a fine macadam road such as is wanted. Private contributions will probably solve the problem. The other contribution made by the Billings people is $10,000 toward a V. M. C. A., which it is hoped will be built within the coming year.

COMMENCEMENT TODAY AT CARLISLE INDIAN SCHOOL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Carlisle, Pa., March 31.—Accompanied by all the ceremonies characteristic of similar previous occasions, the annual commencement exercises were held at the United States Indian School here today. The graduating class was one of the largest in the history of the institution, which was founded in 1879, and has been aided by Congress since 1882.

THIRTEENTH INDIANA TO SEND EDITOR TO CONGRESS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

South Bend, Ind., March 31.—When the Republican congressional convention of the Thirteenth Indiana district was called to order here today all signs pointed to the nomination of John L. Moorhead to oppose Congressman A. S. Starke, county newspaper editor and was formerly Republican chairman of this district.

Jailed for Drunkenness: James Riley pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness in municipal court this morning and was sentenced to pay a fine and costs of $1 or go to jail for five days. He took the latter alternative. John Kendrick was unable to pay $5 and costs and went to the bailee for eight days.

ter's apartments admitted her to his rooms. Evidence has been found which clearly shows that Wolter, or some other person, strangled the girl and forced her body up the chimney of the fireplace. There an attempt was made to incinerate it. Afterwards it was removed, and after being tied in a potato sack was left on the fire escape.

Circumstantial evidence points the finger as strongly at Wolter that it seems almost impossible that he is not the real murderer, and yet he is of an apparently peaceful disposition, of a sickly nature, and if it is proven that he is the murderer it will be another case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

It is true that Wolter has few recommendations personally, being a young man of bad habits, "grazy over women," and whose highest ambition was to "trip the light fantastic too." Wolter still maintains his entire innocence of the crime and states that some person who had access to his room must have committed this in his absence.

Pearl Wheeler, the beautiful and angelic sister of the murdered girl, tells a most vivid story of her search for Ruth. In this she also describes her impression of the woman who was living with Wolter.

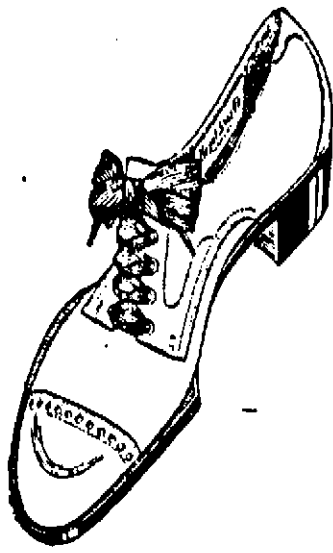

"She was the woman who opened the door in answer to my knock, and as soon as I saw her face I shuddered for a chilling look. I knew at once the class of people with whom I had to deal with. I felt that to announce my errand at first would end in the door being shut in my face, so I had to tell a untruth. In reply to her question I told her I was from the business school and as I had heard that Albert Wolter was a bookkeeper I would like to examine his books. The door was opened and I walked in.

"Wolter was in bed and the woman but half dressed.

"Where is Ruth Wheeler?" I asked Wolter. He looked at the woman, smiled and said she did not know whom I meant. "Ruth! Ruth! Ruth!" I screamed a dozen times, hoping that she would hear my call and answer it, but the only reply I obtained was the

IDEAS GIVEN TO LOCAL GARDENERS

WHAT TO PLANT AND HOW TO PLANT VEGETABLES AND FLOWERS.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO PLANTING

Beautiful the Home—Have a Kitchen Garden and Also Flowers and Shrubs to Hide Unightly Places.

Despite the cold wave of the past twenty-four hours spring is here and coming along fast. It is time to consider the kitchen garden. If you plan for one, also to plant flowers and shrubs about the home. Nothing makes the house of a city the size of Janesville, look so pleasant and homelike as do flowers and a small garden suitable for the needs of the household. The following suggestions may not come amiss just at this time when so many changes are being contemplated in the home garden and yards.

Study and patience is required to decide what to grow that will be worth while under adverse soil conditions. Here is a list of vegetables that have been found to be profitable to grow under such conditions as surround the average back yard. They are given in order of their merit.

First, round red radishes, but sow not more than fifteen feet of row at one time or there will be more than can be disposed of.

Second, leaf lettuce, many different varieties, to be sown a month apart.

Next, tomatoes, using the plants to set out. Prune them when a good crop of fruit is set so they will ripen.

Next, beans. Instead of eating all the greens which you get by thinning out the rows, when they are two or three inches high, transplant them to where radishes grew, but cut off most of the top first or they will not survive.

Waxbeans will outyield all others and may be planted again and again until six weeks before frost is due. The early kinds of corn should be planted in a big enough patch so the grains will be pollinated.

Cabbage may be grown, and if the soil has been worked a year or two before, parsnips and vegetable sprouts and carrots for winter. Keep the soil worked loose, don't let weeds grow and give the plants room.

Nasturtiums Are Sightly.
Nasturtiums are grown not only for their bright, showy flowers, but also for their peppery leaves, which may be used like cress for salads and sandwiches. The pods and seeds are used for pickle and the tubers of many species are edible.

Both tall and dwarf nasturtiums should be grown in warm, sunny places. They require a fairly moist situation. If very early effects are desired the seed may be sown indoors in boxes and the young plants set out when all danger of frost is over. For ordinary beds the seeds are sown in the place they are to grow and a few weeks after they are seen blossoms are produced which continue until a hard frost comes. There is an endless profusion of blooms.

The common varieties may be chosen in two groups—the dwarf bedding varieties, and the tall or climbing kind. The dwarf varieties are very compact forming small, dense bushes which are fairly hidden by flowers of all shades of red and yellow. The climbing varieties (tropaeolum majus) are luxuriant climbers for verandas and trellises. They are very useful in covering unsightly fences or to trail over ugly ground, or for covering banks and walls.

The Perennials.
The term perennial is generally used to apply to "hardy herbaceous perennials," that excellent class of flowers which supply some of the most beautiful and permanent features of every complete garden.

As a rule perennials are easy to cultivate and they withstand well the ordinary extremes of heat and cold. The ground should be well prepared to a depth of two feet and good, deep drainage provided. The roots are quickly in the wet spring months if the ground remains damp. Deep preparation of the soil encourages large root growth, which gives greater endurance to drought. Stable manure should be used in the first preparation of the soil. It will enrich the soil, and prevent baking after rains. But be sure it is well rotted. Potash and phosphoric acid should be used as fertilizers, but sparingly except by expert advice. A clay soil should be kept covered with a fine mulch as many low growing plants are injured by having their leaves scattered with mud.

Use only healthy plants in a perennial bed. Plant them thick enough to make a well filled bed. Roots should be spread equally when planted, and the soil made firm about them. Set out the plants as soon as received. Most cultivated perennials need a winter protection but are benefited by a light covering.

Shrub Planting.
Many people make a careful selection of their flowers and shrubs from the nursery and seed catalogues, but fail to consider as carefully where these beautiful things are to go. Nothing is thought out, no plans are made, and the result is that half the beauty of the result is lost.

Where to plant is just as important as what to plant, sometimes more so. Never plant shrubs, flowers, anything in the middle of the lawn. It dwarfs the place and spoils all artistic effect.

The place where the house foundation meets the lawn is a hard, ugly line. Plant something around the house close to the foundation. The flower under the front porch is not pleasing; plant something to hide it. The weekly wash and other things seen in the back yard do not all the soil with artistic joy. Therefore plant a screen from the back of the house to the fence on each side. The division fences are ugly, so plant something along them to hide them, at least partly. Spruce corners are not pleasing, so plant in them to round them off. Plants are dead during seven months of the year; shrubs partly conceal and have pleasing shapes even in winter, so use shrubs in this planting. If there is anything ugly or unsightly which cannot be gotten rid of, plant it out with shrubs.

FINE HISTORICAL COLLECTION GIVEN TO STATE MUSEUM

Archaeological Specimens Illustrating Indian Life Gift of H. L. Skavlem to State.

H. L. Skavlem of this city, vice-president of the Wisconsin Archaeological society, has just presented the state historical museum at Madison with a valuable collection of Indian materials gathered from the White Crow lodge on Carleton Point on the northwest shore of Lake Koshkonong. The collection is the result of several years of research and comprises hundreds of specimens, illustrating the life of the aborigines, in its various stages of barbarism and semi-civilization. Mr. Skavlem conceived the idea of making the collection in 1900 while engaged with Aerow D. Stout of the University, making a systematic survey of the Indian mounds, to gather in the illustrations of the arts in industries of the prehistoric and early historic residents of the region. The place selected for the research, though now under cultivation, is one of the bestly spots of the lake. The point commands a view of several miles of shore and before the arrival of the white settler was for hundreds of years a favorite home of the Indians. It sits into the lake from the northwest, terminating in a limestone bluff about thirty feet above the beach. The edge of the bluff is fringed with fine trees and shrubs, and is overgrown with vines, moss and ferns. Just back of the shore line is the historic wood of oak, elm and hickory, beneath which the remains of the village of the White Crow, better known as the White Crow, of Black Hawk war fame, were pitched.

The research work was begun in 1900 and has been continued until the present time. Lodge sites were located. The burned stones of the dropstones determined the location of the lodge sites, and from the reflex found about each lodge, the occupation of the occupants discovered. The camps of the arrow smiths were identified by accumulations of flint chips, rejects, nodules, and the finished implements. Around the lodges of the pipe-maker and the aboriginal jeweler were found pieces of catlinite, metal saws and broken and completed specimens of their handwork. Much needed sheet brass and copper kettles and cut and patched fragments of these were of early European introduction, and sections of gun-barrels, gun-flints, gunlocks, trigger-guards, gun-stocks ornaments and other articles attested to the presence at the village in the period of the fur-trade of the half-breed blacksmith. Through the excavations of a number of refuse pits much was learned of the foods and earthenware utensils, and mounds and graves told the story of the burial customs of the villagers.

All of the hundreds of articles of stone, pottery, bone, shell, native copper and trade metal obtained during these researches were carefully preserved for future study. Last year the first collection of a few years' work in the care of the state museum.

Chas. E. Brown and Prof. W. E. Leonard have just returned from the lake, bringing with them the second, which includes a much larger assortment of specimens than included in the first collection. It is extremely doubtful whether there now exists in Wisconsin a more complete and instructive collection than that to which the state museum has just been added. When finally installed it should prove a revelation to many students of the life history of our state's earliest inhabitants.

OBITUARY

IS IDENTIFIED:
THE MAN WANTEDEDDIE FAY IN CLUTCHES OF THE LAW AT NEW YORK AT LAST

HISTORY OF HIS CRIMES

Man Who Took French Leave in 1904
From the County Jail in Custody
Of New York Officials.

There is no doubt that Eddie Fay, the man who, aided by a confederate, sawed his way to freedom from the Rock county jail in August of 1904, has been at last captured by the police after years of search, this time with "the goods on him."

Fay, or Frederick Cunningham as he called himself, was taken into custody by the New York police for the robbery of the Richmond, Virginia, post office in which some eighty-five thousand dollars worth of stamps and money was secured. It was a fight to capture the man and his companion and the third one escaped.

Made Escape.

Fay was in jail here in Rock county for thirty-six days. He was a model prisoner. He read papers and magazines, received a few letters and also sent a few. He had but few visitors and one of these he supposed to have arranged for his escape. Fay often made the boast that he would never be held by prison bars and he has always made good his boast. His escape from the local jail was most sensational and he left no trace but the tools with which he broke through the logs and bars to show how he left.

Early Life in Chicago.

Fay was born in 1875 at Thirtieth and Wallace streets, where his father, now dead, ran a saloon. He attended the Holy school at Thirtieth and Wallace streets. The boys at the school were divided into two crowds, the Twenty-ninth street gang and the Thirtieth street gang.

With Fay in the latter gang were Willie Yeager, who later shot a man in the Twenty-second street district; Pat Flaherty, who was implicated with Fay in the Superior robbery; Mikey Gleason, now serving a ten year sentence in Munich, Germany, for bank robbery; Vincent Shevlin, serving a term for manslaughter in New Jersey; Johnny Shevlin, who is also "wanted," and others.

One of Fay's schoolboy exploits was the stabbing of E. O. Coleman, the son of a former policeman, with a pocket knife in a fight between the two gangs. At about this time he became chummy with Flaherty.

Went to Chester.

In August, 1897, Fay, under the name of Eddie Smith, committed a small burglary in Springfield with Tommy O'Brien and was sent to the Chester reformatory for a short term.

On his release he came to Chicago and he believed to have engineered the remarkable robbery of the old post office on the late front. The building was entered by a tunnel, which it took weeks to dig, and it was estimated that three men must have been engaged almost all the day carrying away the $7,000 worth of stamps which were secured. Fay was arrested on suspicion on June 30, 1902, but was released.

Robbery of Superior Office.

On Oct. 30, 1902, Fay, Pat Flaherty, and Charles Dennis were accused of breaking into the postoffice at Superior, Wis., and making off with $15,000 worth of stamps. At shipenting, Mich., the men were trapped in a railway coach, but in the revolver duel, which followed Fay escaped. Two of the policemen were shot. Fay was caught later in Chicago.

Before being sent to Wisconsin Fay's clothing was ripped to pieces by order of Inspector Stuart and found to be sewed full of hair like wires. It was then that he made his threat to "get" the inspector.

He was arraigned at Madison, but in order to make sure of his safekeeping he was removed to the new escape-proof jail at Janesville. He escaped on Aug. 25.

Shortly afterward the Pearl River revenue office was broken into and $50,000 in stamps stolen. Fay was considered responsible.

He also was blamed for blowing the Pearl River library safe and making away with scrip in the interest of Newton C. Traubert, convicted embezzler of school funds.

It was the proud boast of Fay and his gang that no jail could hold him. Harbors, or Chester, in known as "Dick" Harris, alias "Little Dick" Harris, alias Frank M. Willis, alias Willie James, alias Frank Holden, alias James Wilson, alias James Mason. His record is in part:

Nov. 6, 1891, arrested at Denver, Colo., discharged; Dec. 21, 1891, arrested at San Francisco, Cal., discharged; July 7, 1895, arrested at Oshkosh, Wis., with Harry Russell, convicted Woodward, alias the "diamond swindler," and Anna James, convicted March, 1896, and sentenced to five years in the Illinois (Belgium) prison.

LONG EARTH SHOCKS RECORDED.

St. Louis Seismograph Shows Quakes Extending Over Forty Minutes.

St. Louis, Mar. 31.—The seismograph of the St. Louis university registered earthquake shocks for 40 minutes. They began at 11:45 o'clock in the morning with a north to south movement and three minutes later the movement was from east to west. Father Goessle, who has charge of the seismograph, believes reports of an earthquake will come from the northwest.

Cleveland, Mar. 31.—Two distinct earthquake shocks, apparently originating in the neighborhood of Japan and Java, were registered on the seismograph of St. Ignace's observatory here.

Modest Precaution.

"Why do you insist on so much red tape in your department?" "Because," answered the official, "we're only human and liable to make mistakes, and we want to put 'em off as long as possible."—Exchange.

Paint keeps the Home Bright

A little paint here, a touch of enamel there, a brushful of varnish yonder—everyone can see a dozen such opportunities for brightening and beautifying the home. Perhaps it's the outside of the house that needs protection from the ravages of the weather; perhaps it's a chair, or dresser, the floor or woodwork that has become worn and shabby, or perhaps it's the family carriage, the farm wagon or the lawn swing that has ceased to be a source of pride. But no matter what it is that has become marred and unsightly from age and wear, there's an Acme Quality paint, enamel, stain or varnish that will exactly fit the need. We are agents in this vicinity for

ACME QUALITY PAINTS AND FINISHES

—the most scientifically prepared, the most satisfactory in appearance and wear, made in the largest paint and varnish plant in the world. Simply tell us what you want to do, ask for the proper Acme Quality goods for that purpose and you are sure to get the best that can be made.

The Acme Quality Text-Book on Paints and Finishes tells what Acme Quality Paint, Enamel, Stain or Varnish to use, how much will be required and how it should be put on. It not only enables you to tell your painter or decorator exactly what you want, but makes it easy for you to refinish the many surfaces about the home that do not require the skill of the expert—the jobs that a painter would not bother with. ## RURAL FREE DELIVERY.

Rock county is much interested in the progress being made in the matter of the establishment of good roads. The work which began several years ago has continued with good results and today the county has many miles of fine country roads. One of the essential features of this road-building is the progress in extending the rural free mail delivery throughout the county.

While Senator Proctor was at the head of the Senate Committee on agriculture, he opposed all attempts to commit the federal government to appropriations for road improvements. His attitude, however, was in line with the conservative opinion of the country in relation to government aid for state and local improvements. He recognized the danger of opening the treasury to a general raid on the part of congressmen who desired to "make themselves solid" by obtaining appropriations for road improvements. As he viewed it, road appropriations would be scrambling for like river and harbor appropriations in recent years, and often regardless of every consideration beyond that of obtaining a share of the lump sum.

The demand for government aid in road-building has continued, nevertheless, and the Bankhead bill, just reported by the Senate committee on agriculture, is framed with the view of overcoming some of the strongest objections to the proposal. The bill provides for an appropriation of $500,000 for the improvement of roads that constitute rural free delivery routes, the expenditure of the funds to be conditional on the grant by a state in which it is proposed to improve a road of a sum equal to that expended by the federal government. It is thought, of course, that if the several states must meet, dollar for dollar, every appropriation obtained from congress for road improvements within their respective borders, the desire for federal aid will be held under a tighter rein.

Possibly this may prove a safeguard, but the precedent of government aid for road-building having once been established, it becomes a question whether the barriers erected as a concession to present objection would not soon be torn away. A safer plan would be to let the states do all the road-making. It is their function to do this, directly or through local governments; and at a time when many of them are engaged in vigorous opposition to federal centralization it certainly would be more consistent for them to insist upon non-interference in this highway matter.

JUSTICE BREWER'S DEATH.

Much has been said and written on the death of Justice David Brewer of the United States supreme court yet the real significance of his demise just at this time is particularly unfortunate owing to the important legal matters now being considered by the court of which he was an honored member. The Wall Street Journal comments upon the misfortune which has come to the court of highest tribunal just at this time in the following manner:

"It is of the essence of our existing modern life that when a valued servant of the state and the people is removed to the house of nature, we must turn to the immediate need created by his death. No words are necessary to add to the public appreciation of so valued a servant as Associate Justice David Josiah Brewer, 'the work he did for his country.' He has taken part in a series of decisions of the supreme court of the United States, which have brought hasty, half-baked, partisan, prejudiced legislation, made in heat of passion and stress of conflict, into harmony with the true spirit and principles of that constitution which is our greatest political inheritance.

"What difference will Justice Brewer's death make in the general business of the country? The effect may be very important, or it may not be felt at all. He was one of the eight judges who have heard in the recent past, the arguments in the consolidated corporation tax cases, the American Tobacco case, and the Standard Oil case. As Justice Moody has been ill, the nine judges of the supreme court were reduced to eight, and by Justice Brewer's death are now reduced to seven.

"With eight judges sitting, there was always the possibility of an evenly divided court, and this was a serious consideration in the minds of thoughtful people. In the event of such an even division, the verdict of the lower court would stand, and it is easy to see what this would mean both in the American Tobacco and the Standard Oil cases. There are now seven judges to decide these all-important questions. A division of four to three, would doubtless arouse much speculation as to what might have been the outcome, but for Justice Brewer's death. A decision of at least five to two is what some of us who love to see controversies settled, warmly desire.

"In any case we may expect delay as a consequence of the death. Reconsideration may be necessary, especially on points which the late justice had made peculiarly his own. Besides this, there will be the usual adjournment of the supreme court out of respect. It hardly seems likely that the court will wait for the recovery of Justice Moody; but even this has been suggested. Postponement of decisions in that event would be indefinite and, subject to a proper adjournment of matters pending, everybody wants the important decisions out of the way."

KEEPS ON PLOWING.

Recently, having run the gamut in their effort to strike a note that would be responsive to the popular demand for a responsible party in the high-cost-of-living controversy, those who are engaged in theorizing on the subject, aided and abetted by others who are desirous of diverting public attention from themselves, have been striving to fix the blame upon the farmer. The farmer, they say, is getting the best of it; the farmer has the first chance; the farmer has the goods, and he makes the price that is the basis of all the other prices between the original producer and the ultimate consumer. Through it all the farmer has maintained an absolutely dignified attitude. He has denied nothing, admitted nothing. But as the sun has become warmer, and the dews have become drier, and the dews have become brighter, no amount of gossip, or criticism, regarding the high cost of living, and his possible or probable relation to it, has caused him to remove his hands from the plow, save to respond to the welcome noonday horn, between the silvery sunrise and golden sunset.

This is as it should be. It is well for all of us that the farmer is too busy to talk back. It is well for all of us that he keeps on plowing, regardless of what the world may say as to his getting the best of everything. There were days, and weeks, and years, alas! in which he got the worst of everything, and if things have changed for the better, and he is now prospering, let us console ourselves with the thought that we must all to some degree, ultimately if not immediately, share in his prosperity.

PRESS COMMENT.

One in Particular.

Did you ever see a political boss who was an insurgent?—Rockford Star.

Yes, Senator R. M. La Follette.

Modest.

Has anybody seen the first peck-bow waist?—Milwaukee News.

Some eagle-eyed observer may have caught glimpses of them but probably saw more of what they are intended to cover.

Little, But Oh My.

As Theodore comes marching home he drops little hints of advice to various rulers by the way.—Beloit News.

Today's little bit of advice at Calumet almost the properties of a sick of dynamite.

Right Out Disgusted.

It will be observed that the statesmen that were engaged some time ago in "huzzling La Follette" are not seeking to attract public attention to themselves.—Milwaukee Journal.

Neither does the boy who foolishly

attempts to drive out a certain striped animal from the hen house.

True.

The election returns next week will be a powerful argument for a movement for the short ballot.—Milwaukee Free Press.

And those strong party members who are forced to run as independents because of a faulty primary system, will be his strongest advocates.

Needed.

The voters have an hour long, or this year in which to cast their ballots and this may add materially in some of the congested wards.—Kenosha News.

With so many of the candidates running as "independents," that extra hour would be appreciated in Janesville, for many voters in this city will require a memorandum when they tackle the "mixed" ticket and the voting machine.

There's a Reason.

The absence of La Follette's magazine upon the report of the committee which investigated the senatorial primary, is becoming painful.—Wausau Record-Herald.

One senator is shrewd, if nothing else. He can make a million speeches if he thinks they will make a hit with the gallery, and he can also remain as quiet as the sphinx, which is hard, if necessary and advisable.

Hard on Others.

It seems hard after being badly burned by fire to be arrested by the authorities to be held on the charge of manslaughter when, it is alleged, that there was but one fire escape for the occupants of the big Chicago building to escape from.—Green Bay Gazette.

But isn't it just as hard, or harder on those who died and their families because this same prisoner was capable, it is claimed, of trying to fill a cigar lighter with an inflammable oil when the conditions were as described.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

HEART POWER.

The man who best succeeds in his work is the man who puts his heart into his work.

His heart also? Certainly. He must know how to do his work and must have skill in doing it, but—

Over and above skill and knowledge is the prime quality of enthusiasm—heart force.

Just here is where many fail or partly fail. One is in the wrong business and cannot pick up enthusiasm. Being in the wrong place, he takes no joy in his task. He is at odds with his job and hence puts no heart power into it.

It is a case of the round man in the square hole, or vice versa.

Note this: If you put a circle inside of a square that touches at just four points of contact or a square inside of a circle that touches at the four corners there is contact nowhere else save at the four points.

So is the man who is a misfit.

Life, real life, enjoyable, successful life, is contact with things at all points. In fact, that is the scientific definition of life—correspondence or close touch with environment.

Therefore the round man should get out of his square hole and the square man out of his round hole.

Because—

One must be fitted to his work, like his work, put satisfaction into it. To succeed rightly he must use heart force.

The man who "loses heart" in his job is likely to lose the job, which may be good for the man.

A misfit, joyless worker cannot stand in competition with one who is fired by the red-hot enthusiasm of joy in his job.

If you are in the wrong hole get out of it. You can do it. It may take time and sacrifice and fact. But you owe it to yourself to get into your right place.

Work without joy in it is but stupid drudgery. If you cannot get your pleasure out of your life's work, where this side of the Jordan's death will you get any pleasure?

And life devoid of all pleasure is not worth while.

In everything—business, study, art, what not—the distinguishing quality of success is heart force.

What you do, do with all your heart. Heart force is dynamic.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

Three months are gone of the glad new year, the year we hailed when it made its start; and where are the fellows who raised a cheer, and said they'd ride on the water cart? Three months are gone, and the year grows old, a stiffness shows in his totting limbs; there's a hint of gray in his locks of gold, and soon he will murmur his dying hymns. Oh, Time is gathering his rusty scythe, and will mow down with part; but where are the fellows so young and white, who said they'd ride on the water cart? The wagon rolls on its destined way, and those who stuck to their seats like men are sailing home in the bank away. They're no green tarts in their mouths at dawn, and nothing gnaws at the brain or heart; they're men of courage and might and brawn, the ones who stuck to the water cart. They do not groan 'neath attacks of blues, they spend their nights with the folks at home; they wear clean shirts and they shine their shoes, and put their teeth with a silver comb. They're up to date, and they're bright and clean, and 'the girls observe that they're smooth and smart; and none is plucked in the soup tureen who bravely stuck to the water cart.

EASTER BALL A SPRING LYRIC

SCENIC SETTING WAS OF SURPASSING BEAUTY.

NEARLY 300 WERE GUESTS

Of the Messrs. and Mesdames Rexford, Curran, Carle, and Harris. Last Evening—Music by Krell's Orchestra.

Redolent with the perfume of white hydrangeas and of myriads of pink carnations and Easter lilies that bloomed luxuriously in long rows of bloomed white-lilies; bedecked with bouquets of apple-blossoms, festoons of southern and, ivy-vines that crept down over the white rectangle of the orchestra booth, pendant sprays of the multitude of law-swinging lilies, and April blossoms; and vibrating with the exquisite melodies of the vocal ensembles, the evening hall last evening presented an illusion as compelling as the vanished touch of spring itself. It was a garden of enchantment which defied literal translation. The symbolism might have been the "cherry month" of Japan, but it didn't. Because the centerpiece from which the streamers and sun-like radiations emanated was a giant apple blossom, and not a chrysanthemum. Anyhow, there was a value of gladness even in Krell's wistful little "Glow-Worm," and he was perfectly "at home."

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Rexford, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Carle, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Harris welcomed the guests to this memorable Easter ball at nine o'clock. Simultaneously the Chicago orchestra of seven pieces began to weave the magical tapestry of dance music which was not to have its ending until three o'clock this morning. The scenic setting seemed to be a background and merged simply and naturally with the smiling countenances and bewitching melody of beautiful lilies. The presence of an unusually large number of visitors from out-of-town invested the entertainment with an element of more delicate charm.

Throughout the evening an elaborate buffet-lunch was served at the flower-laden booth in the northeast corner of the hall-room and in the portion of appointments even the men's smoking room was not overlooked.

Included among the out-of-town guests were the following: Frederick Hastings, Winona, Minn.; Curtis L. Smith, Chicago; George Pearson, Evanston, Ill.; Harry Hodge, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wheeler, Milwaukee; Miss Isabel Jackman, Burlington; Miss Isabel Thomas, Dayton, Ohio; Robinson Butterfield, Chicago; Harry W. Lewis, Milwaukee; Miss Louise Thomas, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. Helen Nash, Chicago; Mrs. George Mason, Chicago; Frederick F. Norcross, Chicago; John Porteous, Portland, Me.; William Vroman, Chicago; and Miss Edith Bowey of Brookfield.

TO THE VOTERS.

The people of the city of Janesville, its taxpayers or the city need give themselves no uneasiness as to the result of the investigation of the rates, rules and practices of the Janesville Water Co., as the company is only entitled to its honest operating expenses and a reasonable income based upon the physical value of its property to be determined by the R. R. Commission. If the contract and franchise of the Janesville Water Co. is as favorable to the City of Janesville and its people as the Water Co. would have you believe, why are they hiring the best attorneys in the country, spending thousands of dollars, and even entering local politics in an effort to prevent an investigation of their income rates, rules and practices? The Water Co. would furnish you to believe that they are lending you to believe that the city free for its public buildings, churches, and the library, when the records of the library board Water Co. $19.55 for water last year. Who ever heard of anyone ever getting anything free from the Janesville Water Co.?

It is a well known fact that I filed a complaint with the R. R. Commission for an investigation and reduction of the rates of the New Gas Light Co. both to the city and its gas consumers, which matter I am prosecuting as rapidly as possible.

The following endorsement received by me from the mayor and members of the Common Council two years ago shows their judgment of my qualifications for this office, the only endorsement ever received, in respect of party, by any City Attorney of the City of Janesville.

visit the pope the day following.
Roosevelt's trip through the continent of Europe is to be one grand triumphal welcome. Never since Alexander the Great entered Babylon, with the one exception of Julius Caesar has the continent been so stirred up by the prospects of a visitor as it is now in arranging the receptions of America's president. Kings and emperors, college professors, scientists, soldiers and statesmen await his arrival to pay homage to this one strongest personality in the world today.
He has received invitations from nearly every city of prominence in the United Kingdom and the principal countries of Europe. He has been asked to lecture at universities. He has been invited to banquets and to balls. He will be the guest of the Khedive of Egypt, the king of Greece, the king of Italy, the emperor of Austria, the emperor of Germany, the president of France, the king of England and various other potentates of lesser importance, and all ambassadors in Washington, except Mr. Bryce and Baron Rosen, who have been summoned home by their sovereigns to act as masters of ceremonies.
Theodore Roosevelt is today the best known and undoubtedly the most popular man in the world, and his triumphal invasion of Europe has no parallel in history. No private citizen of any country has ever been offered the honors and the attentions he will receive, and he will bear them off as gracefully as any human being could do. General Grant received a great many honors, and he left a permanent impression upon every class of society wherever he went by his simple dignity, his reflection and entertainment will correspond.

TWO KINGS OF BASE BALL SHAKING HANDS

The two great questions which will perplex baseball fans from now until the end of the world series are, first of course, which team is to be the world's champion, and secondly, is Cobb or Wagner the world's champion?

so close was the race between these two leaders in their respective leagues. If there was any superiority displayed in the world's series it must be credited to Wagner, for he played consistent baseball throughout and stole as many times as the entire Detroit club. Cobb on the other hand, did not play even up to his form and did not show off to the best advantage. For the season Cobb's batting average in the American league of .377 looks better than that of Wagner in the National league with but .335. Cobb was at bat 98 times more than Wagner and that accounts, partially at least, for the fact that Cobb scored more runs than Wagner by 24 and 48 more hits and 41 more stolen bases.

STATE NOW OFFERS
EXPERT ADVICE ON
ROADS AND BRIDGES

Geological Survey Will Show Towns
How to Save Money and Still Build Good Roads and Bridges.

Free engineering service in the planning and building of good roads
and bridges is offered to all towns
having roads or bridges to build this season by the state Geological survey. A circular letter containing this offer of assistance has been sent to every town chairman in the state in the hope that by taking advantage of the expert advice offered free of charge, they will get the best results from the money spent on roads
and bridges.

To secure these results, it is necessary to do the work according to the best knowledge of the times as old time road building has proved a failure when modern conditions must be met. With the present high cost of everything, it is good policy to get the most for the money spent.
It is not to be expected that towns
can go on building expensive roads in such a manner that they last but a short time; and when a bridge is built, it should be of the most substantial, permanent character so that it will not wash out with the first flood. Every new bridge
should have a concrete floor so expensive replacing will be unnece-
sary.

The Highway Division of the Geological Survey has saved many towns
considerable money on roads and bridges. Their last report gives a picture of a fine bridge in Harrison
county on which the town chairman
states they have saved the town $1500. The good roads about the state which they have assisted in building are highly pleasing to the communities where they have been constructed.

With such a record of helpfulness
and money saving as this division
has, it would seem that every chairman who does not ask for their free
assistance when he has a road or bridge to build is doing himself and his town a great injustice.

Following is the letter which has been sent to every town chairman in
the state.

To the Town Chairman:
The season for actual road and bridge construction is upon us and
the Highway Division of the Geo-
logical Survey takes this occasion to notify you that its services are available to any town which has any road
or bridge work to do which requires
expert planning or supervision.

The road assistance offered consists of the examination, surveying or
planning of all classes of road construction whether it be in road drainage, location or grading, or the building of stone, gravel and sand clay or other types of road. The division
can also offer the free use of a few
stone crushers and steam rollers.

The bridge assistance offered consists of the examination of bridge
sites and the planning of all ordinary types of wood or concrete highway bridges. The division furnishes plans, specifications and estimates of
cost and assists in letting the contracts, securing for the town good strong bridges at a cost as low as practicable.

The division has been able to save considerable sums of money for many towns in the past, and we trust you will call upon us if you plan any
road or bridge work for this season.

The services are offered free of cost to the towns as the salaries and
expenses of the engineers are paid
by the state. No town is visited unless an application is made by the town board. Blank application forms
for either road or bridge assistance
will be mailed upon request, and up-
on receipt of the application properly filled out a time for the visit will be arranged.

If for any reason you should not serve your town as chairman during
this will you please hand this letter
to your successor so that he may
know of the free assistance offered
by the state.

Very truly yours,
W. O. HUTCHINGS,
Chief of Highway Division.

FARM HOUSE NORTH
OF CITY DESTROYED

Residence of James R. Thompson in Town of Fulton Burned to Ground Last Evening.

An overheated stove pipe set fire to the home of James R. Thompson,
in the town of Fulton, about six miles north of the city last evening and the house and contents were entirely destroyed. The fire occurred shortly after six o'clock last night as the family was seated at supper. The house was a large two-story building and the loss on it,
though partially insured will probably be a considerable amount.

The light caused by the flames
was first noticed in the upper story
by Mr. Thompson, who supposed it was a lamp burning there and gave no heed to it. Later the roar of the fire caused the family to leave
the house without attempting to save anything. The barn was saved
through the efforts of neighbors. Two straw stacks at the rear of the barn
were ignited by sparks from the burning building and burned and a tower of smoke was slightly damaged.
The flames illuminated the sky for miles around and the reflection was visible in this city.

MISTAH JOHNSON IS
THIRTY-TWO TODAY

Chronology of Colored Heavyweight
Shows That His Career Has Not Been All To The Rose-Tint

Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight who is soon to fight Jim Jer-
ries for the championship, is 32 years
old today, having been born in Galveston, Texas, March 31, 1878. His birthday anniversaries have not been
all of the rose-tinted variety, as the following record shows:

20th Birthday—Working at odd jobs
and dreaming of becoming a fighter.
23rd Birthday—Had realized his ambition by standing up before Joe Chapman for two rounds.

24th Birthday—In San Francisco,
where his ability as a fighter was becoming to attract some attention.
25th Birthday—On his way from the West to Boston to meet Sandy Ferguson, whom he defeated in a 10 round bout.

26th Birthday—On his way West to meet Sam McVey, who he knocked out in the 20th round in San Francisco.

27th Birthday—In San Francisco,
recovering from the effects of his unsuccessful battle three days previously with Marvin Hart.

28th Birthday—In New York, enjoying the proceeds of several victories
recently won in short bouts in Eastern cities.

29th Birthday—In Australia, having
a rather hard time carrying enough
to furnish meal tickets for himself
and manager.

30th Birthday—In England, training Tommy Burns when he was to meet and defeat in Australia later in the year.

31st Birthday—In New York, drawing $1,000 a week appearing in vaudeville at the Victoria Theater.

32nd Birthday—Congratulating himself on knocking out of jail and incidentally trying to make up his mind
to begin training for the Jeffries fight.

SIMPLE LIFE FOR
"PRINCESS CHIMAY"

Clara Ward Of Detroit Who Eloped
With Hungarian Gypsy Is Living
Modestly in Paris.

(Special to the Gazette)

Paris, March 31.—The former Princess Chimay, who was Clara
Ward of Detroit, and whose sensational elopement with the Hungarian gypsy violinist Kloss created so great
a sensation several years ago is now living in a modest quarter of Paris. She is married to a cousin of Kloss. A former friend who came across her the other day was surprised to notice how she had changed in appearance. She has grown very stout. Of course, the famous beauty
of other days is not without means,
and is able to gratify her wants. She is said to have changed not only in appearance, but also in habits and tastes. According to all reports she cares little or nothing now for worldly amusements, and seems quite happy
and contented in the quietude of her home life.

RETURNED FROM PLEASURE
TRIP TO FARGO YESTERDAY

Mrs. J. H. Dower and Daughter, Miss
Genevieve, Also Spent a Few Days at Minneapolis.

Mrs. J. H. Dower and Miss Genevieve Dower returned last night from Fargo, N. D., where they had been visiting George Dower, a son of Mrs.
Dower. Mr. Dower is a former Janesville resident, but at present is employed by the Stone Plant company
of Fargo. Mrs. and Miss Dower also spent a few days with relatives in Minneapolis on their return trip.

HIT BY TRAIN AND
SERIOUSLY INJURED

Charles Bayrhafer of Monroe Township Died of Injuries Received
When Thrown by Train.

(Special to the Gazette)

Monroe, Wis., March 31.—Charles Bayrhafer, a prosperous farmer,
living in Monroe township, was fatally injured while crossing the Illinois Central tracks south of the Payne street crossing near the Preece brickyards yesterday morning. He was on his way to Borden's Condensed Milk factory with his morning's milk and
was also delivering milk for his neighbor, John Fueser. He drove a hay and grain team and when noticed
seemed to be hurrying to get across
ahead of the 8:18 train going south
to Preppert. Before reaching the crossing there is a small hedge and Bayrhafer seemed to be going up this very leisurely. Just before the train reached him he seemed to hesitate
as though he would turn around, but
before he could do so, the train
caught the high horse which was struck in the shoulder and one leg torn from its body. The horses were thrown fifty feet ahead of the train
and the man was found a mile north
from the crossing, lying beside the road so close that the train passed over his right foot. One horse was found with its back broken and the milk wagon on top of it and was shot
by one of the section men.

The victim has often been seen
hurrying to get ahead of the train on
this crossing instead of waiting to let it pass. Several parties were witnesses to the accident. He is a very nervous man and drove a team that was very excitable.

He is a native of Germany and a member of Co. A, 46th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry, being mustered in at Madison. In addition to his farm in Monroe township, he also owns a large farm in Jordan.

He is survived by four children,
three sons, Edward, of La Crosse,
Theodore and William, and Miss
Dora Bayrhafer.

Man Disappears.
Ernest Frankle, bartender at the Vogt saloon on the east side of the square for the past year, has disappeared and his wife is unable to account for his absence from home.

Upon his failure to go home to supply his wife, and having found that he had taken the afternoon train
on the Milwaukee road, though he purchased no ticket and hence left
no traces behind. He wore his over-
day clothes but took along his best clothes with him. Mr. Vogt thinks he will soon return and his wife is
in hopes that she will hear from him
as to his whereabouts. He has complained of not feeling well lately
and has talked of going to West Baden. Mr. Frankle came here from Germany about ten years ago, and until his marriage always made his home with Mr. Vogt, to whom he is related. It is not known that he has any financial trouble.

UNUSUAL INTEREST
BEING DEVELOPED

Work of Establishing the Tuberculosis Hospitals Throughout the State Continues.

Unusual interest has been aroused
by the action of the Racine (Wis.)
common council in granting the Machine Anti-Tuberculosis society permission to erect a hospital for advanced
cases of consumption to be maintained in connection with the existing hospital. Outside of Racine, Wis., the first city in Wisconsin to provide a hospital for advanced cases, but this step is in process of formation at Madison, La Crosse, Kaukauna, Oshkosh and other large cities.

The survey, in other words getting the facts concerning tuberculosis,
begun by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, is meeting with gratifying support all over the state, although the investigation is only in its infancy. All cities having visiting nurses' associations are starting investigations with the assistance of the state association. The work is progressing in Milwaukee with much greater facility than expected, under existing circumstances and as soon as the survey is well under way in the metropolis, Miss Katherine Gahney,
graduate of the state university, will be in charge of the work, which will stretch across the state, which will be covered as speedily as possible.

Under the direction of Mrs. Hooper,
one of the leading members of the Women's clubs at Oshkosh, the conditions are being investigated in that city and Miss Gahney has been called upon to assist. All deaths from consumption in Oshkosh will be located on a large map; the conditions surrounding each ascertained, and steps
formulated to prevent further progress
of the disease. Meanwhile existing cases will be taken care of.

A bureau of information has been established by the association at Milwaukee and is ready for all inquiries
and information. The general offices
are in the Golden Smith building, Milwaukee.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable
by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind,
discourages and lessens ambition; beauty,
vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear
when the kidneys are
out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has
become so prevalent
that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds
the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the urine, it is yet afflicted with bedwet-
ting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble,
and both need the same great remedy.
The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is not like druggists, in fifty-
cent, one-dollar and two-dollar sizes bottles. You may have a sample bottle
by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all
about Swamp-Root,
including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers
who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address,
Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SWAMP ROOT
is for sale at
SMITH'S PHARMACY
as well as all other Patent Medicines.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach
the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one cure, and that is
by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane of the middle ear
tubes. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its
normal condition, hearing will be lost.
Swamp-Root cures all cases of ear trouble
caused by catarrh, which is nothing but
an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh)
that cannot be cured by all the Catarrh
Cure. Send for circular free.

ROCK COUNTY MEN
DISCOVER FAMOUS
LAKEVIEW GUSHER

Joseph Coleman and Charles T. Off
Located Oil Well That Spouts
42,000 Barrels Daily.

Two former Janesville residents
have the distinction of being the discoverers and part owners of what is known as California's world-buster oil
well, the Lakeview gusher, located at Maricopa. They are Joseph Coleman,
a former Janesville resident and son-
in-law of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brewer, formerly of this city. Both left for California about five years ago and their success has been far beyond their most ardent expectations, for
they have a well that produces 42,000
barrels a day.

Charles T. Off located the well
which was struck by Fred Phillips
and Tom Halstead, drillers, on March 15. According to reports, the well is flowing at the rate of 42,000 barrels a day and the flow is steady. It is estimated that of the oil from the Lakeview gusher, up to the night of March 21, 250,000 barrels have been saved.
Three earthen reservoirs and two 55-000-barrel tanks have been filled. The oil is now being pumped into a 500-000-barrel reservoir, formed by damming a dry arroyo. It is said that the stream of oil is being thrown into the air 350 feet and there is no indication
of a decrease in the flow.

Naturally, such a sensational gusher has excited great interest in the oil districts of California and photographs of the well and the great lake
of oil surrounding it as well as descriptions of the well itself and the men
who located it are being printed in all the California papers. At the present time, Mr. Coleman and his wife, who was Miss Lena Brewer of this city, are located at Los Angeles
while Mr. and Mrs. Off are living at Long Beach. Mrs. Off was formerly Miss Bonds of Evansville.

"Assessors' must have been entertained. Did any of them offer advice?"

The Cherub sank into a chair.

"That's right," he observed. "Keep it up, I deserve it."

"Remember," commented the Countess, "is always touching, but it arrives too late in the day. I am curious on only one point. Having made your confession to Mr. Wallows and having earned of his well, his attitude towards me—what prompted you to send him here?"

"Why, I thought Nick ought to have his chance."

"You—you thought?"—The Countess Veechi appeared to grasp his meaning, but slowly. Her brown eyes no longer remembered any kind of fireworks. They regarded him with wide wonder.

"You see," continued the Cherub earnestly, "he's so much nearer your kind of a chap—in your class and all that—and I didn't know how you two looked, you know. Why, it didn't look just right for me to butt in before—well, before you and Nick had a show or make it up if you wanted to. That's all. It was only right."

The silence which had followed his explanation lasted for several moments, and when the Countess Veechi again spoke the clear-cut sharpness of her tone was somewhat softened.

"I understand. I believe I have been told by some one that you had a code of honor that was all your own. Well, now you heard what one Mr. Wallows made of his opportunity?"

"I had him call me up last night. I concern.

"I'm afraid you are making rather an impudent guess, Mr. Walloway."

"But it's no guess," Devline told me himself—that is, he no good as confessed as much."

Her calm pulse was ruffled. Color flashed into her cheeks betrayingly.

"Do you mean to imply that he talked to you—of me?" she demanded.

"Well, I will admit that I drew him out. I could see it plain enough, you know, and when I asked him he didn't attempt to deny, although he did have the grace to protest his own unworthiness. Good of him, wasn't it? Oh, yes, he has improved the opportunities you gave him! He has had the audacity to fall in love with you, countess. My congratulations on your conquest."

He held his head at a knowing angle.

"Then why did he send you here to-day instead of coming himself?"

"Unaccountable. Perhaps he dinked at the last moment. He may have

of calling up Mr. Devline.

"Well," queried the Cherub eagerly, "How did you come on with the countess?"

"Excellent!" said Mr. Walloway, thinking only of the business he had been asked to transact. "It's all settled. She accepts."

"What's that, Nick? Accepts who?"

"Why, the check. She will buy back the property too."

"Oh! Is that all?" An unmistakable sigh of satisfaction came over the wires.

"She wants to see you about it, though. Says she must deal direct."

"Wants to know if you can come to-morrow."

"Why, sure I can. But say, Nick, are you certain there's nothing else—no congratulations coming from me?"

"Why—er—you might congratulate the countess on making a good bargain if you wish."

This was indefinite, but convincing.

"Poor old Nick!" said the Cherub as he hung up the receiver. "He's had his tryout, though. Tomorrow it'll be up to me."

Cherub Devline, having resolutely stashed away all the entangling meshes of business cares, went strolling out to Newington Acres and into the presence of the Countess Vecchi.

"Well, countess, we smashed 'em, didn't we? And you had a hand in it, after all. Nick told you, eh?"

Evidently she had been standing there in the window recess to the

"THEN HE PRACTICALLY MAKES ME A GIFT OF THIS"

thought you would not accept his favors if offered directly, so he asked me to come, Mr. Isn't that rich?"

"In just what way?" And so quietly did she ask it that Nicholas should have had warning.

"Why, he doesn't know how long I have waited for just such a chance. But you know, Adele, and now—"

He had risen and was approaching the countess with outstretched arms. All that was needed to complete the happy reunion was for her to throw herself into them. However, that was precisely what happened.

"Sitting, 'sit down.'"
"But if you will only just listen to—"
"Please sit down, Nicholas."
Nicholas sat.
"You used to tell me, Adele, that you loved"—
"Did I? It's no wonder, for you were forever mooning around asking me if I did."
"I can imagine no reason why you should refuse to hear me say that I love you and"—
"Well, there is a reason. If there wasn't I should invent one."
"I regret very deeply," he began, with great humility, "that anything I have just said"—
"Now, that's better," said the Countess.
